The NIH Public Access Policy allows NIH to link and track publications and grants. The linked publications show up under the grant’s “Results” tab in NIH RePORTER. This now makes the productivity of all NIH grants public knowledge.

Please check your RePORTER entries for completeness. If your publication listing is not complete follow the instructions on the “Results” page to enter the missing publications. Because many of the journals that we publish in do not automatically report to PubMed Central it is important that Demographic and Behavioral Science grantees make sure that their NIH records accurately reflect their scientific productivity.

In addition:

1. If you are affiliated with an NICHD R24-funded Population Center and use the center resources (e.g. pilot grants, statistical core, GIS core) for your research you should also be acknowledging the R24 in your publications as well.

2. If your research includes NIH-funded data dissemination please ask your data users to acknowledge the grant that funded the data collection. On the other hand, if your project uses publically released data that was funded through NIH, grant information and data citation requirements are usually described on the data web site.

3. Please make sure that you include PMCIDs with all eligible publications reported in your progress reports.

And please share the news of significant forthcoming publications with your Program Officer once they have been accepted but before they are out! By the time we see your progress reports it is often too late to follow-up with a press release through NICHD.

Thanks!

Demographic and Behavioral Sciences Branch, Center for Population Research

Eunice Kennedy Shriver National Institute of Child Health and Human Development

6100 Executive Boulevard, Room 8B07
Bethesda, MD 20892-7510
(301) 496-9485 regina.bures@nih.gov

Visit our web site: http://www.nichd.nih.gov/about/org/cpr/dbs

Include a cover letter with your application submission!

See http://cms.csr.nih.gov/ResourcesforApplicants/coverlet